

Me? Write?!!

Did you know that HBSON offers a FREE writing program for nursing students?

Led by Hunter Reading & Writing Center-trained graduate students, The Nurses Writing Project's Nurse Writing Mentor Program offers free writing assistance to HBSON nursing students in-person, and via e-mail.

Nurse Writing Mentors DO NOT edit, but DO work personally with students on the areas of writing they struggle with most. Whether it's APA or grammar, the Nurse Writing Mentor Program is different from other writing services - mentors specialize in academic writing with a nursing focus. The Nurse Writing Mentors also help HBSON students get involved with extracurricular writing activities, get published, and get blogging! E-mail us anytime: thenurseswritingproject@hunter.cuny.edu

Spring 2015 Events

Weekly Writing Workgroup: Every Tuesday 3-4PM Brookdale Cafeteria

On Tuesdays, starting February 9, Nurse Writing Mentors are available for in-person workshoping. We'll start with a brief chat about the writing book, The Elements of Style, by William Strunk, Jr. & E.B. White, and then work together on personal assignments. Led by Nurse Writing Mentors, Amanda Anderson & Marcella Pomeranz, students are welcome at any point. Check Facebook for weekly readings & free e-book. We'll meet every Tuesday except 2/17, & 4/7.

Nurse, Write, Reflect, Lead.
